The Oakville Trafalgar Memorial Hospital Art Council aims to create a warm and inviting space for those who visit the hospital, by inspiring thoughtful moments through contemporary art. With leadership from Oakville's cultural community, the Art Council serves to enhance the healing environment by promoting interaction and connection with art to support holistic health. The Art Council builds its art collection with donations of original pieces from professionally recognized artists of local and national significance and relies on grants and financial donations to support the purchase and loans of artworks to display throughout the hospital. Focusing on subject matter that dignifies life and promotes both physical and emotional healing, the Art Council recognizes and values the therapeutic effects of art experiences.

Thank you to McCarthy Tétrault LLP and Gail Smith for their generous support.
